

	Question	Answer
1	Can I mix micronutrients with fungicide while spraying in my apple orchard?	Yes, chillated micronutrients can be mixed with BASF fungicides like Merivon & Cabrio Top.
2	What product should be sprayed at the walnut stage of apples?	The major problem faced at the Walnut stage is leaf fall. BASF's 'Merivon' is the recommended fungicide for treatment of leaf fall.
3	How do I address the russetting issue on apples?	There are various reasons responsible for russetting in apples and one of the key reason is the use of harsh chemicals (EC formulations). You can switch over to SC formulation like Merivon.
4	Which BASF products are available for apples?	BASF offers Merivon & Cabrio Top, which can be applied at various stages of apple growth to ensure good quality apples.
5	How can I improve fruit coloration in my apple orchard?	The fruit color is dependent on various factors like sunlight, aeration, altitude, temperature, variety and nutrients. To ensure better sunlight and aeration, canopy management is critical.
6	I have curly leaf issue in my apple orchard. How do I control it?	Leaf curling is due to Powdery Mildew and we recommend the use of BASF's Cabrio Top (broad spectrum fungicide) for its effective control.
7	I have mites-related issue in my apple orchard. How do I address it?	Mite problem occurs at the start of the apple season. To control the mite eggs, spray HMO 4ltr/ 200 ltr water at half inch green stage. To control adult mites, it is recommended to spray Fenazaquin @ 50 ml/200 ltr water.
8	How do I prevent Collar rot in Apple?	Collar rot is mainly caused by poor drainage of the apple orchards. To control it, apply Carbendazim + Metalaxyl @ 250gm/100 ltr water. In addition, proper sanitation of orchard should be done.
9	Can I spray Merivon & Cabrio Top together in my apple orchard?	We do not recommend spraying Merivon & Cabrio Top together.
10	How do I prevent leaf damage in apple orchard?	Leaf damage is generally caused by Alternaria and Marssonina disease. Merivon is the best product recommended to control these diseases. Merivon is powered by Xemium and is a broad spectrum fungicide.
11	How do I grow healthy apples with bigger size?	There are various reasons affecting the size of apples, such as climate, soil quality and nutrients. You can get your soil tested and apply nutrients according to the requirements. You can also follow the spray schedule given by the government authority.

